

Singin' Sally put the Barkey Bone in my mouth and said, "Come on Riley! Follow me!" We danced all the way up the stairs and into the bathroom. She said the bathroom should be my "safe place" during storms. How did she know that I'd feel safe in that big, empty bathtub with all that banging & crashing going on during the storm?

Who cares why the bathtub helps Riley feel safe. I'm just glad it stops him from going doo-doo crazy.
